Teen singer, bluesman to play Cyber Cafe West

JULY 9, 2009

Two very different acts roll into Binghamton's Cyber Cafe West on Friday and Saturday.

First up at 9 p.m. Friday will be acoustic roots musician Dan Bliss, who brings a well-traveled playlist of traditional blues, folk and swing tunes. The Kansas City-based guitarist released his CD "That's What I'm Here For" last year, and he'll appear Sunday at the New York State Blues Festival in his native Syracuse. Find out more about Bliss at www.danbliss.com.

On Saturday, 18-year-old singer-songwriter Lindsey Mae will make her Greater Binghamton debut at 9 p.m. The Saratoga resident has been performing since the age of 15 and has written more than 50 original songs. Go online to lindseymaemusic.com to find out more.

Both shows are free. Cyber Cafe West is located at 176 Main St. in Binghamton.
